

THANK YOU

Friday 5 May marked the end of the work on the Energy Link across Headington. There are another two weeks or so to go on Churchill Drive.

On behalf of all those involved on this project: Thank you to all the residents along the route, councillors, City & County Council staff and everyone who drove or walked past the Energy Link for all your:

tea
cakes
ideas
emails
smiles
humour
chatting
doughnuts
cheeriness
helpfulness
suggestions
talking to us
working together
saying good morning
coming to the liaison meetings months of patience and perseverance listening, questioning and understanding

The Hospital Energy Project isn't over – in fact, it has barely begun in real terms. The Energy Link, the new boilers and CHP will be commissioned and tested over the next few weeks with a view to them being operational late summer.

If you would like a glimpse of what has been going on behind the scenes at the new JR Energy Centre and how Vital has orchestrated replacing the essential kit while retaining “business as usual” in all parts of both hospitals, please see: <http://oxfordgreenweek.org/events/green-behind-the-scenes-at-the-jr/> as we have 4 places left.

But, the Energy Link work across your roads is now complete. So, from all the team: THANK YOU.
